

Yerko Dfoinis is a sophomore at LaGuardia School of Music and Art and the Performing Arts, studying classical piano and music theory. He also takes piano lessons at Lighthouse International and plays in the Junior Jazz Band at Lincoln Center, where he continues to improve his jazz knowledge and technique. At the age of eleven Yerko started attending the Saturday music program at the Filomen M. D'Agostino Greenberg Music School at Lighthouse International. While there he studied classical and Braille music, and music technology. During the fifth and sixth grades Yerko also played in the Middle School Jazz Academy at Jazz at Lincoln Center.